PREFACE.

IN order to render the Dictionary more portable and convenient in size, the Author has thought it best to abridge the larger work and bring it out in its present form. In so doing, he has omitted the Chinese and Japanese characters, the synonyms, and the examples showing the use of the words, excepting such as contained a peculiar idiom, and which could not be included in a definition.

All the native Japanese words, with the exception of those which were rarely used or obsolete, have been retained ; as, also, all the words derived from the Chinese which are in current use.

In most cases, the arrangement of the compound words, especially of the verbs and Chinese words, has been altered ; and, instead of making each an independent word, they have been arranged under the first member of the compound, as may be seen in the case of Abura, Fumi, or Rai.

The Second, or English and Japanese, Part, has not been abridged or altered from the original, except in the correction of such typographical errors as were met with.

In order that the Dictionary may be more easily understood, it may be well to explain that, in the Japanese and English Part, the root of the verb only is printed in small capitals, that which follows in italics, separated by a dash, are the adjective form, and the preterite tense, as, ABAKI, -ku, -ita, should be read Abaki, abaku, abaita ; AGE, -ru, -ta, should be read, Age, ageru, ageta, and MI, -ru, -ta, should be read, Mi, miru, mita. Also, in the case of the adjectives, when printed OMOI, -ki, -ku, -shi, it should be read, Omoi, omoki, omoku, omoshi, the first and second being the attributive, the third the adverbial, and the fourth the predicative forms of the adjective.

The hyphen is used always to connect the different members of a compound word.

J. C. H.

ORTHOGRAPHY.

- a* has the sound of a in father, arm.
e has the sound of ey in they, prey.
i has the sound of i in machine, pique, or like the sound of e in mete.
o has the sound of o in no, so. The horizontal mark over ô and û, indicates merely that the sound of o and u is prolonged.
u has the long sound of u in rule, tune, or oo in moon, excepting in the syllables tsu, dzu, and su, when it has a close sound, resembling, as near as possible, the sound of u pronounced with the vocal organs fixed in the position they are in just after pronouncing the letter s.
ai has the sound of ai in aisle, or like eye.
au has the sound of ow in cow, how.
ch is pronounced like ch in cheek, cheap.
sh is pronounced like sh in shall, ship, shop.
f has a close resemblance to the sound of the English f, but differs from it, in that the lower lip does not touch the upper teeth ; the sound is made by blowing fu softly through the lips nearly closed, resembling the sound of wh in who : fu is an aspirate, and might, for the sake of uniformity, be written hu.
g in the Yedo dialect, has the soft sound of ng ; but in Kiyoto, Nagasaki, and the Southern provinces it has the hard sound of g in go, gain.
r in ra, re, ro, ru, has the sound of the English r ; but in ri it is pronounced more like d ; but this is not invariable, as many natives give it the common r sound.
se in Kiyoto, Nagasaki, and the Southern Provinces, is pronounced she, and ze like je.

The final n, when at the end of a word, has always the sound of ng ; as, mon = mong, san = sang, nin = ning ; but in the body of a word, when followed by a syllable beginning with b, m or p, it is pronounced like m, as, ban-min = bamming ; mon-ban, — mombang ; shin-pai — shim-pai. Before the other consonants it has the sound of n ; as, an-nai, ban-dai, han-jo.

The sounds of the other consonants, viz., b, d, h, j, k, m, n, p, s, t, w, y and z, do not differ from their common English sounds.
